A bit late my friends, but I've made it. Pls pray for the families in and around our district. There have been more than 30 overdoses by mostly young people, I believe, in just the past few days. There is a terrible mix of some sort going around this area & it isn't always regular users who are paying the price. A 13 yr old boy at a sleepover was offered something for his anxiety. Obviously, it was not just a simple anxiety pill. My heart is breaking, my nephew was one of the victims a month or so ago. These families must be heartbroken terribly. And prayers that the police can get this garbage off our streets. Seriously friends, the largest community is only 7-8000 people. I want to tear my sackcloth!!! ❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸❤️🩸

David Smith

Several months back, I came to this channel asking for prayer that my back (T1 area of my spine) be healed. The pain did get better over time but to this day I'm still locked up in that area. because I look normal and act more normal no (aka limited pain) people fail to realize that things aren't as good as they seem. even my chiropractor doesn't seem to take me seriously. I am nearing the end of my college career at age 42, but to finish I need to do a 5-day expedition rock class and a 5-day hiking expedition. I am terrified about these trips as I will be in the wilderness miles and miles away from a hospital, with the only way out being by stretcher (for miles) or by helicopter. I get panic attacks (more intense under this sort of stress) so my greatest fear right now is feeling that nerve pain again (it was really really bad) having to take a chopper and having a panic attack while in this sort of pain. and to add on top of that I'm having mood swings from quitting smoking. saying that I feel like I am getting hit by a Mack truck is an understatement. I feel alone, and like no one really understands. calling some pastors I know, doesn't help as I feel like they are emotionally detaching themselves from what I am telling them. I have begun to cry more than I care to and my only choice is to push through whether I like it or not.....I'm having a hard time continuing to type..... thats my story....please pray for me.

Brenda Stewart
